BIO

I am an artist, competition shooter, sponsored 1stphorm athlete, traveler, cowgirl, entrepreneur, and adventurer. I own a private tattoo and art studio called Common Place in Phoenix, Arizona. I am on the board of a non-profit organization called War Party Ranch that helps female survivors of abuse gain a skillset to provide them opportunities to work in western and agricultural industries. As a survivor of abuse and a mental health advocate this holds a special place in my heart.

New experiences and new adventures have become a staple in my lifestyle. I am a rambler and I love chasing edges. I have started hosting group trips to help share my love of this with others. My mission is to share and help others reach their potential and get out of their comfort zones by trying new things and having new experiences. Helping people become better, more independent and capable through my social media, travel, and taking risks.
